

A letter to the children...

Dear Phonic Fairy friends,

I would like to introduce myself. I am the Phonic Fairy and I live on bookshelves. I just love to make phonics fun and I treasure all books dearly. Recently, I flew into your school and read through your fantastic collection; I had great fun! If you look very carefully you just might discover a trail of my magic fairy dust in and amongst your books. I call it my Phonic Fairy sparkle dust!

If you want to learn more about me and my magical powers, watch the films and you will see me fluttering around wearing my special Phonic Fairy dress. On it there are pictures of some of my favourite books such as 'Mister Magnolia', 'We're Going on a Bear Hunt', and 'Shark in the Park'. If you look very closely on my book wings you can spot my powerful motto which is 'Reading makes you brainy, brainy, brainy'. This is simply because the more you read, the brainier you will be.

Enjoy the wonderful world of books and don't forget to look out for that Phonic Fairy sparkle dust!

Fairy wishes,
Phonic Fairy
